

The Eighteenth Century

Theory and Interpretation

VOLUME 58

WINTER 2017

NUMBER 4

Boggy Geography and an Irish Moose: Thomas Molyneux's New World Neighborhood Killian Quigley	385
Dangerous Liaisons: Reflections on the Politics of Confidentiality in the Cyber-Age University Julia Simon	407
The Soldier in the Theater: Military Masculinity and the Emergence of a Scottish Macbeth Kristina Straub	429
Uneasy Passions: The Spectator's Divergent Interpretations of Locke's Theory of Emotion Joel P. Sodano	449
"Willing Victims"?: Disavowed Consent and Formal Deviance in Fielding's Amelia Nicole M. Wright	469
Revolution, Terror, Contingency, and Potatoes Michael A. Osborne	489
Making a New Kind of Modern: On the Arts in the Age of Anne Tonya Howe	497
Moderate Enlightenment and Religious Controversy in Eighteenth-Century Scotland Alexander Dick	503
Orality, Primitivism, and Poetry's Mediated Publics John Savarese	509
Recovering a Sentimental Past Nicole Garret	515
Notes on Contributors	521